Bamboo Eco-Skills Workshops

Experience village life in Bali and learn about bamboo directly from Balinese Bamboo Builders and Master-Craftsmen... Our Bamboo Family Workshops are focused on learning skills for bamboo craft, toys, art, interior design, furniture-making, and in the design and construction of small to medium-scale buildings. Participants engage by working with bamboo in small groups, and get to know the material practically... and experience building something with bamboo. Our programs are guided to give you the skills to understand the fundamentals of bamboo carpentry and design, covering traditional and modern techniques and methods. Our programs are inclusive and supportive of people with disabilities, and our Bamboo Revivment Memberships are an opportunity to invest and immerse in Regenerative Village-Building initiatives in Bali and Africa (Kenya).

Bamboo Creative Bali - Belega Village Eco-school has been built over the past two years during our 3 week Bamboo workshop programs and is intended as an inclusive eco-education space where Natalie (Bamboo Creative Bali Founder)'s daughter Freyr can be naturally included as part of a fun and meaningful social environment. Located around 40 min from Ubud (South-East), she and other families with disabled family members will be able to stay and partake in creative bamboo craft and construction activities.

Now in the final phase of construction with our "Radical Roundhouse" Eco-room Design and "Tarzan Tower" Co-Working Space nearing completion, we invite you to purchase 1 - 10 day Workshop/Stay packages at 20% OFF!

- Workshop/Stay dates are bookable straight away or you can opt to receive a gift voucher (redeemable for 5 years).
- Packages include Workshop and Accommodation.
- Meals are not included.
- Nanny/Carer assistance available.

Packages are valid 5 years from purchase and may be gifted.

Bamboo Creative is a wonderful place to learn everything about bamboo. We had them coming for a kids workshop in a festival and kids and parents were really impressed about what they did. It was in the same time difficult and challenging but so satisfying at the end. Nathalie share without limit her passion of bamboo !

I HIGHLY recommend bamboo creative for a private family craft session. The location was at Freyr house which was an amazing traditional bamboo house, Natalie and Made were so kind, patient and helpful and we enjoyed every minute of the session creating an amazing toy house for my children to play with while we were here. My kids have said that this is their favourite thing they've done in Bali so far. Would highly recommend it to any one adults and kids it's really something to learn the architecture and how bamboo was traditionally and used now. THANK YOU bamboo creative .

Building Healing Spaces with Bamboo: A Community-Led Regenerative Development Model in Kenya

In the Aberdare Highlands of Kenya, something extraordinary is growing. Not just bamboo—but a model for Regenerative Community Development that puts people and the planet at the centre.

The Hands, Heart & Habitat initiative is a collaborative effort between Agatha Amani House, Bamboo Creative Bali, and the Bamboo4Africa network. We are organising for building a bamboo Yoga Shala healing space, skills workshop hub, and community gathering point. This is about more than building a structure; It's about creating a living blueprint for a circular, inclusive, climate-resilient future and inclusive community - especially for women and people with disabilities.

We're creating networks of Regenerative Livelihood Climate-Adaptive hubs, developing community tool banks, and establishing fair trade models that benefit marginalised people. By linking with existing programs and using co-designed contracts, we are growing an initiative to organically include, empower, activate and co-create.

Bamboo 4 Africa Inclusive Collaboration

Agatha Amani House is Kenya's first shelter for survivors of gender-based violence. Set within a permaculture farm, it provides a unique foundation to reimagine not only safe housing but holistic wellness and new opportunities. Through the Hands, Heart & Habitat program, it serves as a hub for hands-on learning—bringing together families, young people, artists, and builders from Kenya and across the world.

What We Build, Builds Us:

Participants work side-by-side with graduates from our Phase 2 Bamboo4Africa Training Program to construct a bamboo Yoga Shala over six weeks from January 19 - February 28 2026.

The program is a grassroots-driven, globally relevant model for regenerative development that directly supports Gender Equality, Sustainable Villages & Communities. In the first three weeks, we do practice and training in basic bamboo skills and wholistic learning - leading into the second segment when we work as a community to make a bamboo structure.

A special kids' program runs alongside the build, encouraging inclusion of people with varying disabilities and multigenerational participation. Volunteers, artists, educators, and caregivers bring their talents, co-creating a vibrant and inclusive community during a 6-week immersion starting mid-January 2026.
(3 week option available)

Family Pass (up to 5 people)

USD$2050 (6 weeks) / USD$1200 (3 weeks) - ALL INCLUSIVE

BAMBOO4AFRICA INCLUSIVE FAMILY WORKSHOPS

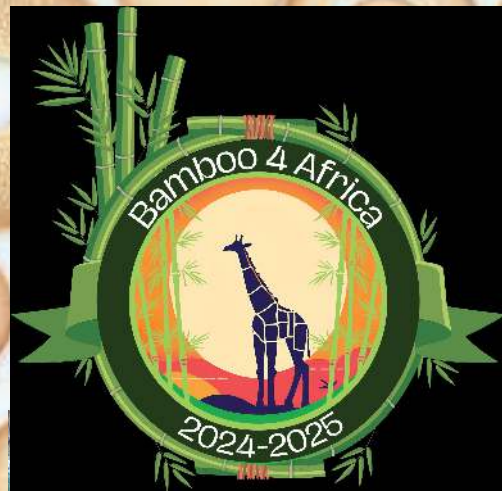

Hands, Heart & Habitat activates a circular economy on a micro scale. Local youth are trained as bamboo apprentices. Tools remain in the community. Graduates go on to build eco-cottages, manage bamboo on local farms, and create income streams using what they've learned. Supporters contribute through multiple pathways—volunteering, participating, donating, or investing in Revivment Village spaces to stay and participate in a community setting.

You can become a Seed Founder of this initiative and project at Agatha Armani House in Naivasha, Kenya - and contribute as a co-founder towards the building of residences in this Eco-Village. One residence costs approximately USD$10,000 - and your financial contribution will entitle you to a 3 month stay per year, with it being maintained as part of the greater community.

Bamboo4Africa Youth Training Collaboration

Kenya has abundant bamboo from a government initiative to plant 10 years ago, but much is unused due to limited skills, knowledge and labor. Overgrown clumps now compete with crops, and about one-third of planted bamboo has already been lost. Within 3–4 years, coordinated effort could make bamboo a sustainably managed resource led by youth, farmers and government. The National Bamboo Strategy exists but lacks plans to mobilize local labor, form farmer–youth partnerships for clump management, or create local treatment hubs to benefit communities rather than large operators. The Bamboo4Africa Initiative seeks to build a local bamboo supply chain and youth-led social enterprises. In partnership with Riziki Youth Foundation and the African Bamboo and Hemp Hub, we are advancing a proof-of-concept to amplify grassroots efforts and develop a replicable model for Kenya and beyond.

Through this project, we aim to establish Regenerative, Climate-Adaptive Village Hubs that can be nurtured and expanded. Stage 3, scheduled for January–February 2026, will feature our first Revivement Gathering in Naivasha, Kenya.

Bamboo for the Future!

Made accessible for all the world's people - means making it Affordable and Attractive to build with... Currently there are not many examples of modern Bamboo Structures that an average person could afford. Maybe we need to make Bamboo Building more of a Community-Orientated activity.... Bamboo is a material for the people, by the people. Many societies have evolved WITH bamboo - as told in local folklores and mythology of South-East Asia... So let's get Together... And Build with Bamboo!!

What do You want to make with Bamboo?

We look forward to welcoming more people to our programs at the Belega Village Eco-School project! We are offering special discounts to raise capital so we can add the finishing touches to our buildings, to train staff, and to make way for becoming a pivotal part of seeding an inclusive Regenerative Revivment Network in Indonesia and Africa.

Natalie Davenport, founder of Bamboo Creative Bali, has lived in Bali for the past eight years. After creating a bamboo home as a social inclusion project for her daughter, she worked with the local community to establish this eco-education space. Drawing inspiration from her experiences in the Philippines and supported by local families and master craftsmen, Natalie aims to teach practical skills for affordable building with bamboo.
